World Industrial
Design Day together

28 June

The World Design Organization annually announces the World Industrial Design Day, celebrated by the design community worldwide at the end of June. This year's theme is physical and mental health and well-being, and how they can be achieved through the tools of design. The Hungarian events will also focus on these issues, while various business development programmes will also be organised: What ideas and interventions does your business need to raise the interest of an investor? How can you acquire a capital injection? How can you find a manufacturer via an international project? Come to see us – for the sake of your business's health and well-being!
